Alcudia is a small fishing port, which today is known as a great place for people who live as if they were on the beach. The promenade, winning several competitions in architecture and urbanism through the Port in a pleasant aroma with a breeze. On one side the sea, traditional fishing boats 'Llauts' and modern marina Alcudiamar. On the other hand, the best fish restaurants, ice cream parlors and clothing stores. And facing the beach, miles of fine sand that draws the semicircle of the bay of Alcudia. It is the most popular beach in the area, which has a range of services from bars to boat rental and sailing courses or aquatic park.

Not only the beach. These browsers have much to do off the main beach of Alcudia as there are almost twenty: sand, rocks, accessible only by sea. Among the intimate beaches include Alcanada, or the S'Illot Coll Baix. The latter is a true wonder of nature that is only accessible by boat or after a pleasant outing among pine trees and rocks.

Precisely from the Coll Baix begin some very interesting excursions for lovers of trekking and nature as it rises to Sa Talaia, ancient watchtower at the highest point of the village. From above we see two bays, the Serra, Alcúdia, the Pla de Mallorca and when the day is clear, the coast of Menorca.

But if there is any place to visit for nature lovers, S'Albufereta and S'Albufera are two of the largest wetlands of ecological importance of the Balearic Islands, located in Alcudia and surroundings, and meet interesting plant and animal life.

At 3 miles from the house is the old town of Alcúdia, called the faithful city in Christian times, the name is Arabic and Roman footprint. A past forged between them in a privileged enclave in the north of Mallorca. Located near the Serra de Tramuntana, Alcúdia has his back to the farm and rural Mallorca, and bathe his feet in the waters of two bays, the north of Pollença and Alcudia this. Alcúdia is located in the center of this area of contrasts, between the stone wall of the Serra and the sandy coves of the Bay of Alcudia between the north wind, sea and inland.

The historical legacy does not detract from what remains today in modern Alcúdia an unknown place for many island residents. Surprisingly, for some, is especially known for its wonderful church and the walled city. It is common to find an authentic place so located as close to the tourist and has kept the essence of the Mediterranean city, where everything happens at a different speed, where everything is savored and enjoyed.

Alcudia, in a sense, we live today as yesterday, taken within its medieval walls (which began construction in 1300). Sa Square is the center of 'alcudiencs' passing place, the meeting point. All around there are bars and terraces that allow us to enjoy this quiet and combine it with a good dish.

Leaving the square using the streets in several directions to a point on the wall as the gates of Xara and Sant Sebastia, and the Church of Sant Jaume, opposite which is the city of Rome Pollentia and a little more beyond the Roman theater, a 'rara avis' because instead of being built, were excavated in the rock.

A row of orange mark the route of the main streets, Carrer del Moll and Carrer Major. In these streets and we are adjacent to small jewelry shops, shoe stores, clothing stores, bars, restaurants, among many large houses built centuries ago, small and peaceful squares. Alcúdia is one of those places that is worth losing left its streets to discover around every corner a new charm, a new feel.

Every Tuesday and Sunday morning, accelerating the pace of the city is the market. Farmers, traders, artisans, artists fill the color and bustle of people around, inside and outside of the medieval wall.
